Job title	Postdoctoral Researcher in Bioethics & Social Science
Division	Medical Sciences
Department	Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health
Location	The Peter Medawar Building, South Parks Road, Oxford
Grade and salary	Grade 7: £31,604 - £38,833 per annum
Hours	Full Time
Contract type	Fixed Term – Two years in the first instance
Reporting to	Head, Bioethics & Engagement, MORU Bangkok
Vacancy reference	135242

The role

This is an exciting new position within the Bioethics & Engagement department at the Mahidol Oxford Tropical Medicine Research Unit (MORU) within Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health. MORU conducts ethics and engagement research as well as provide ethics support to clinical research studies throughout its network including ethics training and addressing ethical problems with research. MORU collaborates closely with the Ethox Centre, University of Oxford and other ethics/social science/engagement departments within the Oxford Tropical Network (e.g. Laos, Myanmar, Kenya, Viet nam)

You will be based in Oxford and will work on ethics projects related to the scientific research that MORU undertakes. Projects are usually multi-country and multidisciplinary. In the first instance, you will conduct qualitative studies on ethical issues around antimalarial resistance and malaria human challenge studies.

Job Description:

- Under the direction of the Head of the Bioethics and Engagement, work independently to conduct ethics and community/public engagement research. This will include: writing

Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health

protocols and obtaining ethics committee approvals for protocols, gathering data (conduct interviews and focus group discussions (with a translator if necessary) and analysing qualitative data

- Provide support to the head of Bioethics & Engagement in bioethics and engagement projects conducted by MORU
- Provide support and mentoring to junior staff or field workers in terms of social science research methods, data collection, data analysis and academic writing
- Regularly write and review abstracts and academic articles related to bioethics/social science for peer-reviewed journals
- Work actively to build collaborative partnerships with postdocs at the other Wellcome Africa Asia Programmes in South East Asia and Africa, and with the Ethox Centre at the University of Oxford. This will involve visits to partner institutions and attendance at the annual Bioethics Summer School.
- Contribute, as required to the wider academic activities of MORU including teaching and supervision
- Participate, and in some instances organise, local and international study team meetings (face to face or skype). Take minutes and notes at relevant meetings
- Take on new duties within the expectations of this grade as agreed from time to time with the head of Bioethics & Engagement

Selection Criteria

Essential

- A doctorate in the social sciences, law, bioethics or biomedical sciences
- Experience in conducting and analysing qualitative research
- An interest in issues in research ethics such as data sharing and participant consent
- Experience in publishing in ethics or social science in English language journals
- Ability to spend short periods of time in Thailand
- Proficiency with qualitative analysis software e.g. N-vivo
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills

Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health

- Excellent English writing skills

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford's researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, and in providing all of our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that supports everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is a great strength, and vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual's unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe's most entrepreneurial universities. Income from external research contracts in 2014/15 exceeded £522.9m and ranked first in the UK for university spin-outs, with more than 130 spin-off companies created to date. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford.

Important information for candidates

Pre-employment screening

Please note that the appointment of the successful candidate will be subject to standard pre-employment screening, as applicable to the post. This will include right-to-work, proof of identity and references. We advise all applicants to read the candidate notes on the University's pre-employment screening procedures, found at:

www.ox.ac.uk/about/jobs/preemploymentscreening/.

The University's policy on retirement

The University operates an Employer Justified Retirement Age (EJRA) for all academic posts and some academic-related posts. From 1 October 2017, the University has adopted an EJRA of 30 September before the 69th birthday for all academic and academic-related staff in posts at grade 8 and above. The justification for this is explained at:

www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/revisedejra/revaim/.

For existing employees, any employment beyond the retirement age is subject to approval through the procedures: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/revisedejra/revproc/

Centre for Tropical Medicine and Global Health

From 1 October 2017, there is no normal or fixed age at which staff in posts at grades 1–7 have to retire. Staff at these grades may elect to retire in accordance with the rules of the applicable pension scheme, as may be amended from time to time.

Equality of Opportunity

Entry into employment with the University and progression within employment will be determined only by personal merit and the application of criteria which are related to the duties of each particular post and the relevant salary structure. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. No applicant or member of staff shall be discriminated against because of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, or sexual orientation.
