Introduction

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford’s researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, while providing all our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that enables everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is our strength, vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual’s unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe’s most entrepreneurial universities. Income from external research contracts in 2016/17 exceeded £564m and we rank first in the UK for university spin-outs, with more than 130 companies created to date. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford.
Medical Sciences

The Medical Sciences Division is an internationally recognized centre of excellence for biomedical and clinical research and teaching. We are the largest academic division in the University of Oxford.

World-leading programmes, housed in state-of-the-art facilities, cover the full range of scientific endeavour from the molecule to the population. With our NHS partners we also foster the highest possible standards in patient care.

For more information please visit: www.medsci.ox.ac.uk

Nuffield Department of Clinical Medicine (NDM)… fostering your career in science

The Nuffield Department of Clinical Medicine (NDM) is one of the largest departments of the University of Oxford and is part of the Medical Sciences Division, with responsibility for a significant part of the teaching of clinical students within the Medical School.

NDM has significant financial turnover and complexity, resulting from its diverse research portfolio, its geographical spread and its close links with NHS funding and strategic teams involved in the development and delivery of increasingly integrated clinical research platforms. For more information please visit: http://www.ndm.ox.ac.uk/home

The Nuffield Department of Clinical Medicine has been presented with a Departmental Athena SWAN Silver award in recognition of the commitment made to promote gender equality through our organisational and cultural practices and our efforts to improve the working environment for both men and women. For more information please see our Departmental Athena SWAN pages: https://www.ndm.ox.ac.uk/working-for-ndm/aboutndmatheneswan/

Oxford Big Data Institute (BDI)

The Big Data Institute (BDI) is a state-of-the-art building at Oxford University's Old Road Campus, which opened in March 2017. This interdisciplinary research centre focuses on the analysis of large, complex, heterogeneous data sets for research into the causes and consequences, prevention and treatment of disease. To this end, BDI researchers will develop, evaluate and deploy efficient methods for acquiring and analysing information for large clinical research studies. These approaches will be invaluable in identifying the associations between lifestyle exposures, genetic variants, infections and health outcomes around the globe.

Research is conducted in 4 general themes: genomics, population health, infectious disease surveillance, and methodology (including informatics, statistics, and engineering). Big Data methods could transform the scale (breadth, depth and duration) and efficiency (data accumulation, storage, processing and dissemination) of large-scale clinical research. The work of the BDI requires people and projects that span traditional departmental boundaries and scientific disciplines, supported by technical resources to handle the vast quantities of data they generate.

Under the leadership of Professor Gil McVean (Director) and Professor Martin Landray (Deputy Director), the BDI will comprise around 350 researchers (approx. 30 research groups) drawn
Overview of the role

The NDM Big Data Institute is in search of a highly motivated and capable individual to join its administrative team as a Personal Assistant to its research groups.

Research here is busy, challenging and fast-moving. Within the team you will provide administrative support and you will be responsible as the personal assistant for the work the teams require on a day-to-day basis. Given this it is essential that you demonstrate the ability to manage and prioritise a varied workload in an efficient and flexible manner at all times. This will involve independently monitoring emails and diaries and working on your own initiative to make travel arrangements, coordinating itineraries, work out travel claims and arranging travel visas. You will also organize meetings, conference calls and conferences. Given this you must be experienced in working to tight and changing deadlines. It is essential that you work closely with other members of the admin team and research teams within BDI and manage to deal effectively with the daily challenges. You will be team oriented and results-focused, demonstrating strong interpersonal skills to enable collaboration with project teams, peers and management.

Responsibilities

- Provision of PA duties to the Institute’s activities.
- Organisation of day-to-day administrative duties, including managing diaries and meetings – using initiative to make considered judgements when juggling the demands placed on the schedule, teleconference calls and other appointments.
- Making national/international travel arrangements including arranging transport, hotels, visas, insurance, car hire and preparing detailed travel itineraries.
- Replying to a range of issues or researching and preparing information/drafting replies.
- Organising events in Oxford such as weekly group meetings, quarterly project team meetings, seminars, guest lectures, etc., including sourcing venues and preparing catering if required.
- Provide full administrative support on financial matters: for example, the management of travel, subsistence and other expenses and allowances, invoices for subscriptions.
- Managing expense claims and any applications for reimbursements to other organisations.
- Meeting and greeting visitors in Oxford, making refreshments and arranging catering as required.
- Producing agendas and minutes for key meetings/teleconferences.
- Assist with the management of publications by updating Departmental/University systems and supporting with the maintenance of a Departmental publication database.
- Assist with organising public engagement activities and any required logistics.
- Support in covering tasks during periods of absence.
- General office duties (e.g. photocopying, arranging couriers for important documents, stationery ordering).
- Prepare and circulate papers, agendas, minutes and draft briefing notes as appropriate.
Selection criteria

Essential

- Educated to minimum A-level standard or equivalent.
- Experience of diary management, including making complex travel arrangements.
- Experience of administrative work in a team environment.
- Highly organised, excellent attention to detail and the ability to manage a varied workload under pressure and meet deadlines.
- A high standard of numeracy; the ability to manage finances.
- Evidence of discretion in dealing with confidential or sensitive matters.
- The ability to work independently using own initiative and as part of a team demonstrating a flexible and helpful approach, particularly with respect to staff based on another continent and in supporting colleagues when necessary.
- Good interpersonal and communication skills with the ability to interact equally effectively with senior academic staff, researchers and support staff.
- Highly computer literate and proficient using MS Office.

Desirable

- Experience of working in an academic environment.
- Experience of using financial information systems (e.g. Oracle Financials).
- Experience of diary management, organising meetings, taking and writing minutes, and planning and booking travel itineraries.

How to apply

Before submitting an application, you may find it helpful to read the ‘Tips on applying for a job at the University of Oxford’ document, at https://www.ox.ac.uk/about/jobs/supportandtechnical/

If you would like to apply, click on the Apply Now button on the ‘Job Details’ page and follow the on-screen instructions to register as a new user or log-in if you have applied previously. Please provide details of two referees and indicate whether we can contact them now.

You will also be asked to upload a CV and a supporting statement. The supporting statement must explain how you meet each of the selection criteria for the post using examples of your skills and experience. This may include experience gained in employment, education, or during career breaks (such as time out to care for dependants).

Your application will be judged solely on the basis of how you demonstrate that you meet the selection criteria stated in the job description.

All applications must be received by midday on the closing date stated in the online advertisement.

Information for priority candidates

A priority candidate is a University employee who is seeking redeployment because they have been advised that they are at risk of redundancy, or on grounds of ill-health/disability. Priority candidates are issued with a redeployment letter by their employing departments.

If you are a priority candidate, please ensure that you attach your redeployment letter to your application (or email it to the contact address on the advert if the application form used for the vacancy does not allow attachments).
Should you experience any difficulties using the online application system, please email recruitment.support@admin.ox.ac.uk. Further help and support is available from www.ox.ac.uk/about_the_university/jobs/support/. To return to the online application at any stage, please go to: www.recruit.ox.ac.uk.

Please note that you will be notified of the progress of your application by automatic emails from our e-recruitment system. Please check your spam/junk mail regularly to ensure that you receive all emails.

Important information for candidates

Pre-employment screening

Please note that the appointment of the successful candidate will be subject to standard pre-employment screening, as applicable to the post. This will include right-to-work, proof of identity and references. We advise all applicants to read the candidate notes on the University's pre-employment screening procedures, found at: www.ox.ac.uk/about/jobs/preemploymentscreening/.

Data Privacy

Please note that any personal data submitted to the University as part of the job application process will be processed in accordance with the GDPR and related UK data protection legislation. For further information, please see the University's Privacy Notice for Job Applicants at: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/councilsec/compliance/gdpr/privacynotices/job/. The University’s Policy on Data Protection is available at: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/councilsec/compliance/gdpr/universitypolicyondataprotection/.

The University's policy on retirement

The University operates an Employer Justified Retirement Age (EJRA) for all academic posts and some academic-related posts. From 1 October 2017, the University has adopted an EJRA of 30 September before the 69th birthday for all academic and academic-related staff in posts at grade 8 and above. The justification for this is explained at: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/acrelretire8+/. For existing employees, any employment beyond the retirement age is subject to approval through the procedures: www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/end/retirement/acrelretire8+/

From 1 October 2017, there is no normal or fixed age at which staff in posts at grades 1–7 have to retire. Staff at these grades may elect to retire in accordance with the rules of the applicable pension scheme, as may be amended from time to time.

Equality of Opportunity

Entry into employment with the University and progression within employment will be determined only by personal merit and the application of criteria which are related to the duties of each particular post and the relevant salary structure. In all cases, ability to perform the job will be the primary consideration. No applicant or member of staff shall be discriminated against because of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy or maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, or sexual orientation.
Benefits of working at the University

University Club and sports facilities
The University Club provides social, sporting and hospitality facilities. It incorporates a bar, café and sporting facilities, including a gym.
