The role

Reporting to Mr. Abtin Alvand, Prof Andrew Price and Mr. Antony Palmer, the post holder is a member of a quality improvement group with responsibility for carrying out clinical and research development for the Major Revision Knee Network based at the Nuffield Orthopaedic Centre. The post holder provides guidance to other team members of the quality improvement and research group, including physiotherapists, administrators, website developers, PhD students, and project volunteers.

Responsibilities

- Manage own academic research and administrative activities related to the Major Revision Knee Network. This involves small scale project management, to co-ordinate multiple aspects of work to meet deadlines.
- Develop new research databases and materials relevant to improving the care of patients undergoing investigation and assessment of the problematic knee replacement
- Contribute ideas for new research projects relevant to the above themes
- Collaborate in the preparation of research publications
- Present papers at conferences or public meetings
- Engage in patient and public involvement work relevant to the Major Revision Knee Network
- Act as a source of information and advice to other members of the multidisciplinary team
- Represent the research and quality improvement group at external meetings/seminars, either with other members of the group or alone

Selection criteria

Essential selection criteria

- Hold a Trauma and Orthopaedic National Training Number, together with relevant experience
- Experience developing and delivering quality improvement projects
- Research experience in revision arthroplasty and knee surgery
- Excellent communication skills, including the ability to write for publication, present research proposals and results, and represent the research group at meetings
- Demonstrate an ability to follow departmental guidance in handling sensitive and personal information, including complying with current data protection legislation
- Demonstrate an understanding of data protection and other statutory requirements and professional guidelines, such as “ICH Good Clinical Practice guidelines”.

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford's researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, while providing all our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that enables everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is our strength, vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual's unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe's most entrepreneurial universities and we rank first in the UK for university spin-outs, and in recent years we have spun out 15-20 new companies every year. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford.

For more information, please visit www.ox.ac.uk/about/organisation.

Medical Sciences Division

The Medical Sciences Division is an internationally recognised centre of excellence for biomedical and clinical research and teaching. We are the largest academic division in the University of Oxford.

World-leading programmes, housed in state-of-the-art facilities, cover the full range of scientific endeavour from the molecule to the population. With our NHS partners we also foster the highest possible standards in patient care.

Nuffield Department of Orthopaedics, Rheumatology and Musculoskeletal Sciences

The Nuffield Department of Orthopaedics, Rheumatology and Musculoskeletal Sciences (NDORMS) is part of the Medical Sciences Division and is the largest European academic department in its field, running a globally competitive programme of research and teaching.

Our mission is to discover the causes of musculoskeletal and inflammatory conditions to deliver excellent and innovative care that improves people's quality of life. Our highly skilled teams have expertise in a broad range of areas, including orthopaedic surgery, inflammation, immunology, rheumatology, medical statistics, epidemiology, and clinical trials.

We currently have 480 staff, approximately 120 post-graduate students and have a grant portfolio worth over £180 million.

The Botnar Research Centre enables and encourages research and education into the causes of musculoskeletal disease and their treatment.

The Centre provides world-class facilities for scientists in the field of musculoskeletal research. It takes a multidisciplinary approach, encompassing orthopaedic, rehabilitation and rheumatology clinical scientists, bone oncologists, laboratory scientists, epidemiologists, engineers and statisticians. The Botnar also hosts the Oxford Clinical Trials Research Unit (OCTRU) and the Centre of Statistics in Medicine (CSM), providing excellent statistical support to all aspects of clinical research.

The Botnar opened in 2002, with a large annex completed in 2013. The Botnar is now home to around 300 staff and postgraduate students enjoying the international and friendly atmosphere of this workplace and benefits from the vast knowledge of leading experts in the field of musculoskeletal research.

To accommodate its rapid growth, the Centre has opened another wing in early 2022. The new space provides additional 1000m<sup>2</sup> of office and 1000m<sup>2</sup> of laboratory space. The laboratory space includes a GMP clean room facility suitable for the manufacturing of biomaterials for human implantation.

Sharing the site of the Nuffield Orthopaedic Centre, the largest specialist academic musculoskeletal hospital in the UK, puts the Botnar in a unique position to foster the collaboration between basic scientists and clinicians, which is essential to success in medical research.

The Kennedy Institute is a biomedical research centre uniquely bringing together discovery science and early-stage clinical research, to develop transformative new therapies for chronic inflammatory and musculoskeletal conditions.

Broadly focused on the thematic areas of immunity and microbiome, inflammation biology and tissue remodelling and repair, the Institute's research is relevant for a range of common diseases such as arthritis, inflammatory bowel disease, fibrosis and cancer.

The Institute has capacity for up to 260 staff and students who work collaboratively across 25 research groups. This enables a multidisciplinary approach of molecular and cellular biology, combined with analysis of disease models, patient tissue samples and longitudinal clinical data. Collectively, these studies seek to uncover the biological processes that maintain tissue health and how these pathways break down in disease.

Research at the Institute is supported by a suite of core technology platforms, as well as through strategic partnerships with other basic and clinical research centres in Oxford, across the UK and internationally. These state-of-the-art technologies include the Oxford-Zeiss Centre for Excellence and other advanced microscopy and imaging facilities, mass and flow cytometry, as well as capabilities for microbial genomics and functional microbiome studies made available through the Oxford Centre for Microbiome Studies.

Complementing a strong programme of lab-based research, the Institute has established a core of expertise and technologies in data science including single cell genomics, statistical genetics, computational biology, and research informatics. A recent extension to the Institute building with a new third floor creates additional space purposely designed for computationally intensive research.

A true trendsetter in innovative and transformational research, the Kennedy also boasts a relaxed and friendly atmosphere, revolving around its bright and airy atrium that provides a space for colleagues to meet over coffee and tea to talk about their research and beyond throughout the day.

Athena Swan

The Athena SWAN Awards specifically recognise success in developing employment practices to further and support the careers of women in science, technology, engineering, maths and medicine (STEMM) departments in academia. In May 2015 the charter was expanded to recognise work undertaken in arts, humanities, social sciences, business and law (AHSSBL), and in professional and support roles. Within NDORMS, we feel that we have an established culture of equality but are using the process to spur on-going improvement that benefits everyone involved in the Department. Our on-going progress was rewarded in May 2014 with an Athena Swan Bronze Award and in October 2015 with a Silver Award.

Our development in this area has resulted in a number of commitments to our staff, central to which are:

- establishing an open, supportive and family-friendly research environment
- supporting career progression through teaching programmes, personal development reviews and mentoring
- proactive communication of support policies such as flexible working, provision of leave, promotion and career support schemes

NDORMS aims to actively promote the implementation of the University's family-friendly policies to help foster a family friendly working environment, including provision of family leave (such as policies for maternity, paternity, parental, carers and adoption leave), flexible/part-time working and scheduling inclusive meetings.

The University's childcare services support staff with a Childcare Voucher Scheme to help staff save tax and national insurance on childcare costs, offer information on nursery providers and a nursery fee Salary Sacrifice Scheme, work in partnership with playscheme providers to help support families during school holidays and signpost staff to parenting, local authority and other organisations that help support families and parents.

The Department is also committed to ensuring that staff undertaking part-time or flexible working receive the same access to benefits and entitlements as full-time staff, including the same opportunities for training and promotion, a pro-rata entitlement to leave including bank holidays and careful consideration of requests to work part-time (particularly for those by staff returning from maternity leave).

For more information please visit: <http://www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/staffinfo/benefits/family/> and <http://www.admin.ox.ac.uk/personnel/during/flexible/>

We are also actively working to uphold the University's aim of providing an inclusive environment and equal career opportunities by promoting equality, valuing diversity and maintaining a working, learning and social environment in which the rights and dignity of all staff are respected. Separate University policies are also in place to ensure race, disability and gender equality. For more information, please visit: <http://www.admin.ox.ac.uk/eop/>
