Job description

Overview of the role

The postholder will be responsible for auditing, cleaning and improving the authorities data within the online catalogue of Manuscripts from the Islamicate World (fihrist.bodleian.ox.ac.uk). The Bodleian's history of collecting Persian manuscripts began in the year it opened, in 1602. Collections of John and Thomas Greaves in the 17th century, of Narcissus Marsh in the 18th, and of the brothers Gore and William Ouseley in the 19th century brought the total to more than 2,500 items. At present 1,500 are described in the online catalogue. Conversion of information in the printed catalogue by Hermann Ethé, published in 1889, to machine-readable form will enable greater access to the collection and will prepare the ground for further scholarly work to describe the manuscripts in greater detail. The work which needs to be done on the entries converted from the printed catalogue includes harmonizing and integrating name and place references, to enable cross-searching.

Improvements to the authorities data will aid the discoverability of these rich collections, allowing further integration of persons and places within the Bodleian's suite of Special Collections catalogues, while also creating new access points into the Bodleian's collections for external users and applications.

Responsibilities

- Work in an XML editing programme using TEI to contribute to further creation and development of collections content, such as manuscript descriptions, in consultation with Special Collections colleagues
- Analyse, structure and encode existing authorities data, including clustering, reconciliation and normalization, coordinating with Asian and Middle Eastern Collections and BDLSS colleagues
- Collaborate with colleagues in Asian and Middle Eastern Collections and BDLSS to ensure consistency and compatibility of data with the Fihrist catalogue
- Liaise as required with the Digital Bodleian team to review metadata for ingest as part of Persian collections digitization activities
- Any other tasks which may be required commensurate to the grade to improve and harmonise metadata for Persian manuscript collections

Other duties

- Participate in a regular Annual Review
- Undertake any necessary training identified
- Comply with health and safety regulations
- Comply with the policies and procedures set out in the Handbook for Academic Related Staff
- Any other duties that may be required from time to time commensurate with the grade of the job

The Bodleian Libraries reserve the right to make reasonable amendments to the job description in consultation with the post-holder at any time.

Bodleian Digital Library Systems and Services (BDLSS)

Bodleian Digital Library Systems and Services (BDLSS) provide digital services across the Bodleian Libraries, serving the needs of students, academics and researchers in all faculties of the University of Oxford, as well as the wider public.

Physically based in Osney Mead in west Oxford, BDLSS staff – including software engineers, project managers, resource discovery, digital preservation, metadata and digitisation specialists – work in partnership with colleagues throughout the Bodleian Libraries to meet the needs of our readers, and to evolve and develop projects and services which keep pace with teaching and learning needs in the twenty-first century.

Selection criteria

Essential selection criteria

1. Experience of working with TEI-XML or other mark-up languages
2. Proven skills, or experience equivalent to those derived from holding a postgraduate degree, in some aspects of Persian manuscript studies
3. High standard of spoken and written English
4. Strong reading knowledge of Persian in a variety of scripts
5. Very strong IT skills; comfortable working with digital data and with the ability to acquire new technical skills quickly
6. Expertise and interest in the field of Persian manuscripts, including electronic and paper reference works and research resources; experience of using catalogue descriptions.
7. Highly organised with excellent analytical and problem-solving skills
8. Excellent oral and written communication skills

Desirable selection criteria

1. Familiarity with the results of OCR'd text
2. Ability to work independently; co-operative attitude to working with colleagues
3. Experience of working with Person/Place name authorities (VIAF, ISNI)
4. Experience of working on a cataloguing project

Pre-employment screening

Standard checks

If you are offered the post, the offer will be subject to standard pre-employment checks. You will be asked to provide: proof of your right-to-work in the UK; proof of your identity; and (if we haven't done so already) we will contact the referees you have nominated. You will also be asked to complete a health declaration so that you can tell us about any health conditions or disabilities for which you may need us to make appropriate adjustments.

Please read the candidate notes on the University's pre-employment screening procedures at: <https://www.jobs.ox.ac.uk/pre-employment-checks>

About the University of Oxford

Welcome to the University of Oxford. We aim to lead the world in research and education for the benefit of society both in the UK and globally. Oxford's researchers engage with academic, commercial and cultural partners across the world to stimulate high-quality research and enable innovation through a broad range of social, policy and economic impacts.

Radcliffe Camera in Radcliffe Square

We believe our strengths lie both in empowering individuals and teams to address fundamental questions of global significance, while providing all our staff with a welcoming and inclusive workplace that enables everyone to develop and do their best work. Recognising that diversity is our strength, vital for innovation and creativity, we aspire to build a truly diverse community which values and respects every individual's unique contribution.

While we have long traditions of scholarship, we are also forward-looking, creative and cutting-edge. Oxford is one of Europe's most entrepreneurial universities and we rank first in the UK for university spin-outs, and in recent years we have spun out 15-20 new companies every year. We are also recognised as leaders in support for social enterprise.

Join us and you will find a unique, democratic and international community, a great range of staff benefits and access to a vibrant array of cultural activities in the beautiful city of Oxford.

How to apply

Applications are made through our e-recruitment system and you will find all the information you need about how to apply on our Jobs website <https://www.jobs.ox.ac.uk/how-to-apply>

Your application will be judged solely on the basis of how you demonstrate that you meet the selection criteria stated in the job description.

As part of your application you will be asked to provide details of two referees and indicate whether we can contact them now.

You will be asked to upload a CV and a supporting statement. The supporting statement must explain how you meet each of the selection criteria for the post using examples of your skills and experience. This may include experience gained in employment, education, or during career breaks (such as time out to care for dependants).

Please note that if you do not upload a completed supporting statement and a CV, we will be unable to consider your application for this role.

All applications must be received by midday UK time on the closing date stated in the online advertisement.

References

Please give the details of two people who have agreed to provide a reference for you. If you have previously been employed, your referees should be people who have managed you for a considerable period, and at least one of them should be your formal line manager in your most recent job. Otherwise they may be people who have supervised you in a recent college, school, or voluntary experience. It is helpful if you can tell us briefly how each referee knows you (e.g. 'line manager', 'college tutor'). Your referees should not be related to you.

Your referees will be asked to comment on your suitability for the post and to provide details of the dates of your employment; and of any disciplinary processes which are still considered 'live'. We will only take up references at offer stage.

If you currently work for the University please note that:

- As part of the referencing process, we will contact your current department to confirm basic employment details including reason for leaving
- Although employees may hold multiple part-time posts, they may not hold more than the equivalent of a full-time post. If you are offered this post, and accepting it would take you over the equivalent of full-time hours, you will be expected to resign from, or reduce hours in, your other posts(s) before starting work in the new post.

Information for priority candidates

A priority candidate is a University employee who is seeking redeployment because they have been advised that they are at risk of redundancy, or on grounds of ill-health/disability. Priority candidates are issued with a redeployment letter by their employing department(s).

If you are a priority candidate, please ensure that you attach your redeployment letter to your application (or email it to the contact address on the advert if the application form used for the vacancy does not allow attachments).
