Hybrid (three days per week onsite), Park End Street, Oxford
Grade 6: £34,982 - £38,674 per annum including the Oxford University Weighting of £1,500 per annum

Fixed-term (one year with possible further year), full time (37.5 hours per week)

Saïd Business School, University of Oxford

Vacancy reference: 179236

The role

Reporting to Professor Pedro Bordalo, the Principal Investigator (PI), the post holder will be a member of both the Finance, Accounting, Management and Economics (FAME) research group at Saïd Business School and Behavioural Research UK (BR-UK), an interdisciplinary research consortium funded by UK Research and Innovation (UKRI) via the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC). The consortium serves as a leadership hub that is part of a wider ESRC programme to build national capability for behavioural research.

The role involves close collaboration with the PI on projects examining how beliefs and preferences – key drivers of economic decisions – are shaped by cognitive mechanisms such as selective attention and recall. For example, this framework demonstrates that fluctuations in expectations – driven by cognitive mechanisms – can account for phenomena such as volatility and return predictability in financial markets, without requiring exogenous shocks to risk aversion.

Current projects explore how cognitive mechanisms interact with standard economic forces such as information provision, incentives, and regulation. The research employs big data, quasi-experimental methods, and surveys to trace the links between past experiences, features of the environment – both relevant (like incentives) and irrelevant ones – and choice. The findings aim to inform the design of incentives and regulatory policies, in part through collaborations with UK policy-setting organizations partnered with BR-UK. Interested applicants are encouraged to visit the PI's website for more details on ongoing projects.

This form summarises the purpose of the job and lists its key tasks. It is not a definitive list of all the tasks to be undertaken as those can be varied from time to time at the discretion of the School, in consultation with the postholder.

Responsibilities

- Manage large scale databases and contribute to the design of research materials such as surveys
- Identify and implement appropriate methods of analysis according to project objectives and available data
- Undertake comprehensive and systematic literature reviews
- Contribute to the writing of research publications, book chapters and reviews
- Demonstrate development through acquisition of relevant skills and competencies.
- Contribute to the organisation of conferences, seminars and workshops.
- Contribute to discussions and share research findings with colleagues in partner institutions, and research groups
- Manage own research and administrative activities, within guidelines provided by the PI
- Responsible for the day-to-day administration of the research project

Selection criteria

Essential selection criteria

- Hold a Bachelor's degree (or equivalent) and/or completed (or nearly completed) Master's degree in Economics or Computer Science or other closely related discipline
- Possess strong quantitative and data analysis skills
- Have strong programming skills. Experience with Stata, SAS, or MATLAB is required.
- Ability to independently manage own research and administrative activities, without constant direct supervision.
- Excellent communication skills, including the ability to write text that can be published, present data at conferences, and represent the research group at meetings

Desirable selection criteria

- Experience of working in a research team and contributing ideas for new research projects

Pre-employment screening

Standard checks

If you are offered the post, the offer will be subject to standard pre-employment checks. You will be asked to provide: proof of your right-to-work in the UK; proof of your identity; and (if we haven't done so already) we will contact the referees you have nominated. You will also be asked to complete a health declaration so that you can tell us about any health conditions or disabilities for which you may need us to make appropriate adjustments.

Please read the candidate notes on the University's pre-employment screening procedures at <https://www.jobs.ox.ac.uk/pre-employment-checks>.

Social Sciences

Oxford Saïd is a department within the Social Sciences Division, one of four academic Divisions in the University, each with considerable devolved budgetary and financial authority; and responsibility for providing a broad strategic focus across its constituent disciplines.

The Social Sciences Division represents the largest grouping of social sciences in the UK: home to a number of outstanding departments and to the internationally ranked Law Faculty; all are committed to research to develop a greater understanding of all aspects of society, from the impact of political, legal and economic systems on social and economic welfare to human rights and security. That research is disseminated through innovative graduate programmes and enhances undergraduate courses. For more information please visit <https://www.socsci.ox.ac.uk>.

How to apply

Applications are made through our e-recruitment system and you will find all the information you need about how to apply on our Jobs website <https://www.jobs.ox.ac.uk/how-to-apply>.

Your application will be judged solely on the basis of how you demonstrate that you meet the selection criteria stated in the job description.

As part of your application you will be asked to provide details of two referees and indicate whether we can contact them now.

You will be asked to upload a CV and a supporting statement. The supporting statement must explain how you meet each of the selection criteria for the post using examples of your skills and experience. This may include experience gained in employment, education or during career breaks (such as time out to care for dependants).

Please upload all documents as PDF files with your name and the document type in the filename.

All applications must be received by midday UK time on the closing date stated in the online advertisement.

If you currently work for the University please note that:

- As part of the referencing process, we will contact your current department to confirm basic employment details including reason for leaving.
- Although employees may hold multiple part-time posts, they may not hold more than the equivalent of a full time post. If you are offered this post, and accepting it would take you over the equivalent of full-time hours, you will be expected to resign from, or reduce hours in, your other posts(s) before starting work in the new post.
